News & Happenings for August 2014

Shop News:

It's August??!! You know what that means! School is just around the corner, and then before you know it, it will be Halloween, then Thanksgiving, and Christmas! No need to panic! Just keep it simple and you'll have all those hand-made gifts done in no time. We will offering classes geared toward Christmas cards, fiber art scarves, and beaded jewelry during September—November. Watch for details in upcoming newsletters.

Here we go again! If it's August, it must be time to get some more re-organization done! The shop will be closing early at 3:00 p.m. on Saturday, August 9 so that we can get started on moving things around. It's becoming more of a challenge to find room for everything that is coming in! This little shop will always be a "work-in-progress", and we appreciate all your support and kind words. The shop will re-open again on Tuesday at 10:00 a.m.

We're looking for empty fabric bolt cardboard! It's part of our new fabric display. For every 10 bolts brought in, you will receive $2 in Craft Box Bucks.

Drop-Off Status:

We are accepting items again, but due to the smaller back room area, we may have to put out the Stop sign more often than we want. But it will be for just a day or two. So, please continue to contact us about the status of drop-offs.

Charity of the Month: The Action Center

The Action Center, a human-service non-profit, has been active for more than 40 years assisting the homeless, near homeless and working poor of Jefferson County.

Last year we supported them with school supplies. We missed the school supply deadline this year, but there are more programs we can support.

You can check out their website to see their programs and needs. What they need the most right now is Food. Food items noted on the website are Rice, Tuna, Peanut Butter, Dry Dinners, Pasta & Sauce, Mac & Cheese, Canned Beans, Canned Meat and Dry Beans.

And a bonus would be a hand-made tote bag. We'll collect the food through the end of August.
